I See Him

I see him in the eyes of strangers
It is as if the whole world loves him, beholds
  his visage is reflected in eyes
Like a million blades of grass sway in one breeze Poco a poco,
They wave their arms
High above the sand,
  above the antheap—