Why can't we speak of what weighs heavily on our mind
Why do we forbid our selves from ask in fear of what we might find
Why do we shake and shiver of what we know is true
Why can't we say those three most terrifying words I love you
Why does our blood burn when we are together
Why can't we be as one forever and ever
Why do we feel as if we are giving up a lot
Why haven't we struggled nor even fought
